RIGHT HONESTY THE BEST POLICY

Tar Heel Executive Points Out the Dangers That Confront the Nation and Offers a Remedy-Alton G. Parker Pleads For the Divorce of Business From Politics.

NEW YORK, July 1.-The Tammany Society's annual Fourth of July celebration, in front of its wigwam in Fourteenth street, constituted about the only public exercises in observance of the Fourth in Manhattan. The chief speakers of the Tammany program were Governor Robert G. Glenn, of North Carolina, and Lieutenant Governor Jared Y. Sanders, of Louisiana Governor Glenn said:

Governor Glenn's Speech.

"I estimate it an honor and pleasure to meet and greet you today, and I appreciate, more than mere words can express, the invitation to your wigwam to make an address to the warriors of your tribe. That you have made mistakes, none will deny; that you have elevated to office and put in positions of trust some who have been untrue to their oaths, unworthy of your order, and a menace to society and good gov ernment, you, yourselves, will admit, but while this is true under the leadership of such sachems as Daniel Tompkins, the great John Kelly, Richard Croker, Sheehan, Murphy and others, with a few interruptions, you have controlled, directed and governed less and greater New York, until it has, grown in wonder, wealth and power, has outstriped every other city under he sun, and now stands not in numlers, but in progress and achievenents, first of all.

"The subject you have assigned me teday, "Our Country," is vast and unlimited.

A letter from Alton B. Parker for mer Democratic candidate for presi dent, in which he advocated the divorce of business and politics, was Parker's Letter.

Judge Parker's letter was in part as

"Because greed, left to run riot, has produced some bad conditions in cities and in great corporations, we are advised to run headlong into municipal or government ownership and operation. This policy is advocated in spite of the fact that in other coun tries, and in surroundings far more favorable for these experiments than our own, they have uniformly interfer red with development and curbed initiative. The only alternative thus presented for the curbing of greed is that of rushing wildly into all the perils of over-government.

Incipient Socialism.

"The fact that this incipient stage of St. Louis 23 socialism finds advocacy ought not to excite surprise. For nearly half a century we have been preaching and practicing it on a larger scale than ever before tried. We have thrown greed organized as it never was before into an active partnership with govern-

"The demoralizing effect of this sys tem is seen in the alliance resulting and necessary between greed and polities, which finds illustration at every step. Thus we ought not to be surpris ed when we see a management in some of our great fiducary institutions which is dangerous, corrupt and self ish. It is then realized that under the workings of this system, in which lobby, blackmail and, corruption are simplest elements, we are only looking upon the application, in all the successive circles of authority, of vicious practices inherent in an unjust fiscal system.

Respect For Law Required. "It is thus made incumbent upon us to recognize, in the first place, that, as the dangers which confront us new, they require nothing but the old respect for law, a demand for its rigid execution and a recognition of those doctrines and practices which fix unalterably the limits of right and wrong, We do not need to look for new cures for the old diseases; we have only to apply the old remedies in drastic

"Then following the recognition of this fact comes the necessity for the 666. divorce of business and politics, a union which has been so long continued and so fertile in evil progeny that the process of separation will be long and difficult. The Democratic party must do all that lies in its power to promote an end so auspicious. Only in this way can it give new potency to the principles and policies for which it has consistently contended during all the changes of more than a century."

AFTERNOON GAMES

BOSTON, MASS., July 4.-All records for lengthy ball games in this city were broken this afternoon, when Philadelphia defeated Boston 4 to 2, after twenty exciting innings.

The previous professional record in the East, a Boston-Providence game, eighteen innings, had stood since 1878. A fumble, a hit by pitched ball, a force out and two singles gave the visitors two runs and the game in the final inning. Ferris gave the finest exhibition of infielding seen in this city for years, accepting sixteen chances, many of them difficult, out of seventeen. Young's remarkable steadiness, not giving a base on balls in the entire game, was also a feature.

Waddell's work was wonderful after the first inning, and four times in the game, when it looked like Boston uns, his pitching held the home team

Davis' home run in the sixth inning was the only batting feature. Knight was knocked out by being struck with n pitched ball in the twentieth inning and was replaced by Monte Cross.
